All food establishments handling open, potentially hazardous food must have one certified food service manager on staff per facility. The following companies write approved manager certification exams. THESE COMPANIES DO NOT GIVE THE EXAMS. THEY ONLY WRITE THE EXAMS. Call the phone numbers listed below to get information on how to find instructors who give these exams in the area that you live. The internet addresses can also be used to find this information. Gila County Environmental Health does not provide any testing for certified managers and has no association with any of these companies.
